

Florida District's

Extreme Training for Church Planting

A call to Church Planting is one of the most radical and extreme callings that a man or woman could ever receive. It's a calling to start a brand new congregation of people who are seeking after Jesus Christ and working to be his redemptive agents in their community. It is not a task to be taken lightly.

Nobody who desires to do something successful and extreme does it recklessly.

Training helps prepare planters for extreme situations and prepares them for what God has next in their lives.

Church Planting through Extreme Training

The Florida District trains potential Church Planters to know what it takes to plant a Church.

Many sponsoring Agencies have a desire to see new church works started within their target area. They may already have a qualified and assessed leader ready to “jump in” and get started. But just because a leader has a calling to plant and has the backing of a sponsoring agency does not mean that they are fully equipped and ready. Church Planting Extreme Training will help encourage and equip a potential planter to know exactly what is involved in planting a church. It will give practical steps to help potential church planters know what to do as they prepare to follow God’s dream for their lives and plant a church.

It is the goal of the Florida District to be able to partner with these Sponsoring Agencies to help potential church planters get the practical training they need to be able to be successful at the task that lies ahead. The Florida District has worked hard to develop a highly informative training format for the church planting camp which seeks to share as much practical information as possible in a manner that is neither overly time-consuming nor overly expensive. These training camps will leave potential planters feeling informed as well as equipped for the work God has called them to.

Questions about Extreme Training?

Q: How long do Church Planting Extreme Training camps last?

A: Our goal is to get participants the most information possible in the shortest amount of time possible. With that goal in mind, the camp typically lasts for three full days of intensive training.

Q: What is the format of the Church Planting Extreme Training camp?

A: The training is broken up into four modules which discuss the Health and Fitness of the Planter, what is required during the stages of Offsite Preparation, Onsite Preparation, and at Launch and Beyond.

Q: What costs are involved for a Sponsoring Agency to send a potential planter to an Extreme Training camp?

A: Sponsoring Agencies are asked to cover the costs of a participant’s travel to and from the event, as well as food and lodging during the event. The cost of Event Registration is $500 per church planting couple.

Q: What other benefits are there for a Sponsoring Agency sending a potential planter to Extreme Training?

A: A planter will return from the camp, not only with the tools to plant a church, but also with a heart that beats to continue the multiplication process after their particular plant has been launched.
